EDITORIALS

Always A Monkey Wrench

There is no reason to suppose the Russian Government will be any more co-operative in 1952 than they have been before. Like a quarrelsome neighbor, the Russians seem to only want discord, fear and disharmony in international relations.

Whatever the Western democracies want to do, whatever they suggest, for co-operation and world peace, is found fault with by the Russian delegates to the United Nations.

Perhaps the growing military strength of the Western Powers will result in the Russians being more willing to help solve World problems, and less ready to "throw a monkey wrench into the works" at every U.N. meeting.

Bowling Is Healthful Fun

Persons under 18 years of age are not permitted in any billiard room or bowling alley unless they enter as members of a league or when accompanied by parents. For the typical 1 hand-out type of billiard room this is quite a fair restriction to make on juveniles and the kind of fun and recreation they should have.

There should, however, be some discretion in this regulation which keeps young people from enjoying the fun of a good, clean game of five-pin bowling. There are reputable bowling alleys that deserve a higher rating than those from which juveniles should be barred. Why doesn't the government give these better-class recreation centers an "A" rating so that parents can send their boys and girls out to enjoy a healthful indoor game with complete trust and faith that they have in sending them to the community skating rink.

Barely government regulations don't have to be stiffed and stuffy that they can't differentiate between a youth "joint" and a potential youth centre.

Good News For Settlers

The benefit of the Prairie Farm Assistance act is to be extended to the northern areas of the prairie provinces and British Columbia. This act was originally intended to ameliorate drought conditions in the southern prairies. The amendment passed last week makes it available to settlers on new seven land open for settlement after 1950.

The act provides that if wheat yields are under 4 bushels an acre, a payment of $2.50 per acre will be made on half the cultivated acreage. If the yield is between 4 and 8 bushels an acre, the payment is $1.50 an acre on one-half of the cultivated acreage. In the case of other grains the wheat payment scale is used as an index. On no instance is the payment more than $500 per farm.

Won't Be Eating It Long

There has been quite a fuss raised about horse meat. Some people have declared that under no circumstances will they eat it. Others are already doing so.

Experienced livestockmen say there is nothing to worry about, that the question will largely disappear because the heavy horse is disappearing, reports The Financial Post.

It was a phase of farm mechanization that brought the horse into the Canadian meat picture. Ousted by the truck and tractor he was turned out to pasture where he grew fat and tender and in these days of high-priced meat, anytime fat and tender horse is wanted in the butcher shop. But when this present surplus is gone there will be no place for the breeding of draft or heavy horses in Canada is almost at an end.

Notes and Comment

The remarkable increase made in some parts of Alberta according to the recent census means will not mean an increase in Alberta's representation in the Federal House. Alberta's over-all increase keeps pace with the over-all increase in the whole country and a little better. Saskatchewan has lost population, and in the next election election will send one or two fewer members to Ottawa.

The Bible Today:

"Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid." Matt. 5, 14.

Who Wants To Be Educated?

During the depression it used to be said that education was a great thing. That any bum with a B.A. degree to his name and a nickel in his pocket could walk into any restaurant and order a cup of coffee. Any body could buy a cup of coffee for five cents in those days. The price of the coffee has now changed, but has the value of a university education improved?

A short time ago the listening public was treated to a demonstration of the supreme achievement of a university education in an enlightening quiz program broadcast over CKUA, the University Radio in Edmonton. We strongly suspect the gentleman who arranged the questions for this brilliant display of learning was either a man of evil intent, or a genuine humorist. A panel of learned professors confronted one of unlearned students with questions about English history.

At least one student had the honesty—almost equal to George Washington's concerning the famous cherry tree—when he replied to a question: "Well I can only guess!"

Here are some of the remarkable replies to questions propounded, most of them from the panel of professors:

Q.—Who was the father of Edward the Sixth?
Ans.—Prince Albert. Second guess Edward the Seventh.

Q.—Who was the father of William the Fourth?
Ans.—Henry the Eighth.

Q.—Who was the father of James the First?
Ans.—Charles the First.

Of course it may be the quiz program was only a burlesque, or an educational "take off" on modern education, but we rather suspect it was just a demonstration of the crass ignorance that passes today for education. The panel of students might be excused on the grounds that our high school and public school education are at fault, but a demonstration of that regrettable fact should make the public wonder why so much is being spent on education.

The professors gave an astounding revelation of a vast that is not educable. They also demonstrated the truth of the charge that university education today is not concerned with making scholars but with turning out doctors, dentists, lawyers and haberdashers. Certainly it looks as if there is no intention of turning out cultured men and women. Culture has little to do with an educational system that can produce no better than professors or students. After all, Winston Churchill wasn't a university man, so a university education is not essential to success. But at least a man who isn't attended university may know he needs more education, and hence self-educated in his daily life. Some such men reach great heights of learning and success. Fly the poor college graduate with a degree and no education!

Our Debt to the Church

Sometimes we are prone to ask the question: Why go to Church? Sunday is a day free from labor and business responsibilities. Why not use it for rest, relaxation, sports and recreation?

There are preachers in the pulpit who don't help us much, admittedly, because instead of preaching spiritual truths they daily with comparatively trivial problems. Matters that affect our lives, it is true, but result in humdrum sermons of light consequence. Men and women living in Canada today aren't much in need of material wealth, and talking about it from the pulpit won't get it for them, if they do need it.

At the same time, we know that wherever the Christian church has gone, faithful workers have brought in missions, hospitals and schools. They have ministered to the physical needs of the people, and then preached the gospel of salvation for their conversion and satisfying of their spiritual needs. For these material blessings we owe a debt to the Church. We can repay our debt and receive still greater gain for ourselves by attending church and looking to the pastor for messages of spiritual worth for the benefit of our souls.

Hog Prices on Downward Drift

Hog prices have been on the skids. If it is any comfort to producers to know the reason, here it seems to be: The United States has raised a huge pig crop and prices there have dropped. This enabled 30,000,000 pounds of U.S. pork to cross the line into Canada. While Canadians have been swinging in to pig meat instead of higher priced beef, the demand has not kept the price up. During October domestic consumption ran at the rate of 118,000 pigs a week. Three years ago 78,000 porkers a week was all the domestic market would absorb.

Prices have gone down from a high of $20 a cwt. dressed weight in August to around $27 at present.

In Minnesota last week live hogs were selling for $18 per cwt., which is equal to $24 for dressed pork.

OH, YEAH?

Voice of the People

"VOX POPULI VOX DEI"

ROUGHNECK ASTONISHED "NATIVE VOICE"

What kind of girls do you have in Edmonton? Two Edmonton cuties are reported as saying it was dull to go out with a man they could trust implicitly. Can it be they've just been going out with the wrong type of guys? Or do Edmonton girls like to spend their evening's wrestling instead of having an enjoyable time?

Lodge. ROUGHNECK. BOUQUET FOR A.C.T.

I want to pay tribute to members of the Alberta Commercial Travellers who put on the A.C.T. Search for Talent shows to raise money for crippled children. They work cheerfully and untiringly to make each show run smoothly, even after they have travelled many miles over rough roads to get to the town where it is being held, even in bad weather. Any contestant, winner or loser, has the satisfaction of knowing that by simply participating in the Search for Talent they have made it possible for some crippled child to get a better chance in life—besides enjoying some good clean fun on their own.

THADDEUS IS EDMONTONIAN

It is not my habit to write letters to the editor, but I feel that I should ask what happened to the column by Thaddeus.

I have read his column with interest and missed it last isue. Is Thaddeus a local man? Edmonton. C. B. JAKES.

Dear Sir—We were pleased to see the photograph of our first editor, Mr. Jack Beynon, in a recent issue of your paper. Mr. Beynon was our first editor, and was with us for about six months. Due to ill health he retired and we would like to make the correction, he has not been for six and a half years connected with The Native Voice, a though he always takes a keen interest in the paper, and it was through him that the lovely name of The Native Voice was given to the paper.

NATIVE VOICE PUB. CO. Mails: Armillaire Moore, Publisher, Vancouver, B.C.

ANY FORMER FATTIES?

Dear Sir—If you have any ex-fat boys in your area who have taken Elmer's Calorie Cure and have trimmed their tummy, please let me know.

I'd like, through your paper, to give them our "No. Rejo Award," a humorous diploma that congratulates them on their courage and stamina in shedding the extra pounds to "one last chin."

Might make you an interesting local story as a build up to our new serial, "The Fallen Fat Boy" by George Little of General Features should be offering you after the first of the year.

In all events, the "honorary" might like The Fat Boy's Diploma! It ranks with the Pulitzer Prize for "accomplishment beyond the call of the dinner bell!"

WEIGHING ON DEBTS

(From the Calgary Albertan)

The Canadian government is riding on record surpluses, derived, of course, from taxation of the people. Some politicians are crying to high heaven about this "robbery," this "debaucherie" fleecing of the people of their hard-earned money.

Actually, of course, the Canadian government is very heavily in debt, mostly as the result of two wars. Either the government and the taxpayers never intend to pay that debt, in which case we might say they are dishonest, or they will pay it. If they intend to pay it, the time to start is now. Canadian national income is higher than ever before. The people are in a good position now to pay off old debts, much better than they might be five or ten years from now. Any surpluses in the public treasury go to reduce the public debt.

To criticize the surpluses, in our opinion is to favor weighing on the public debt.

Needlecraft News

HOME ENTERTAINING is an art that reflects the talents and personality of the hostess and provides a challenge for her originality. She knows color is important and should be chosen to match, or harmonize with the color of the room. In many cases the luncheon cloth or place mat is chosen to suit the occasion. For instance, Christmas table decorations are red and green, or all white to depict snow scenes. Tinsel and artificial snow can also be used to create winter scenes. During Easter purple and yellow are suitable or perhaps spring flowers if the Holiday is late in the season. All white is the most popular choice for brides, while pink and white is the color for little girls' birthdays. Blue is the choice for small boys and the darker colors, such as greens and browns, are better for older boys. These are general rules which can be used as a guide and every hostess strives for power and better effects because she knows the beauty of her table makes her food more palatable.

Informal Trend

Informal entertaining is becoming more popular. Newer houses are being built with smaller dining rooms and some with none at all. We must be careful, in these cases, not to overlook the fact that good table settings and good manners are essential at all times no matter what the trend is in architecture. Children must be trained when they sit at the table, whether it is in the living room or in the hall, to realize they are having dinner and they should act accordingly. The incentive to do better is greater if the dinner is served nicely and the table well dressed. Sometimes it is fun to change the location of the table. Try putting it near the window on bright days to give the family a new view; on cold dreary days set it near the fire. If you have no fireplace, draw the curtains and use candles to create a cozy warm atmosphere. All these things are very simple but add greatly towards making a happy and more comfortable home.

Embroidered Place Mat

The attractive place mat pictured above is made of beige and brown ribbed decorator's cloth and is extra laid at each end with embroidered bands of plain brown cotton. The embroidery is done in cross-stitch. If you wish to make this EMBROIDERED PLACE MAT FOR YOURS, a direction leaflet is available. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper (enclosure Leaflet No. E-139).

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

My husband and I belong to different churches. He doesn't want to go to mine and I don't want to go to his.

The reason I don't want to go to his is because of the way his mother does and the way the church believes. His mother says I'm going to hell if I don't belong to his church and that's what the whole church believes.

My husband and I have been married for four years and have two wonderful children. We are happy until we get around his mother and she starts nagging us about going to their church.

We don't go to church anywhere because my husband says he's going to carry our oldest child to his church and I can carry the baby with me but I don't think we should part them, do you?

My husband would go to church with me if it wasn't for his mother, I believe.

What would you do in my case?
MOTHER AND WIFE.
Answer:

It is a pity that you and your husband did not decide this question before you were married.

I believe that anyone who lives a good life, helps other people and supports his church in all of its work, can go to heaven regardless of the church with which he happens to be affiliated.

I realize, of course, that there are churches that do not take this view of religion and I can understand why anyone who is tolerant of other religions would feel hypocritical in joining such a church.

As you are both so set in your opinions, it seems to me that a compromise would be the best plan. Either do as your husband wishes by dividing the children or you carry them to your church for a year and let him carry them to his for a like period. When they get old enough to decide, let them choose the church they prefer.

Certainly, children should not be robbed of Sunday School and church experience.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am a young girl of teen-age. What must you do when you can get along with your people except with your mother. I think she thinks more of the other children than me. When we get to fixing she takes us for them but calls on me to do things—says I cause all the trouble.

She doesn't want me to go anywhere or have any privileges—thinks I should stay home all the time and work. When company comes, she acts like she is ashamed of me. What must I do?

TEEN-AGER.

Answer:

Your mother must be a most inhuman creature if she is the way you describe her but I wonder if you are not painting the picture a little blacker than it really is. The teen-age period can be a very trying one for mothers and children. If they will try and have patience with each other and make excuses for each other, the years will pass and they will finally understand that the fault lies with both.

Tell your mother that you are going to try to get along with the others and ask her to have patience with you and help you to be happy. If she thinks you are in earnest, perhaps she will be kinder and more understanding.

LOUISA.

Barley Contest Judging To Be Held Feb. 15-16

The unfortunate 1951 harvest season, inability of contestants to get cars to ship their carload entries and other causes, have delayed judging entries in the 1951 National Barley Contest.

The judging has now been set for Feb. 15 and 16. The awards will be determined on these dates at inspection rooms of the Board of Grain Commissioners in Winnipeg. As in former years the winning entries will be picked by an interprovincial judging board, personnel of which will be much the same as last year.

Alberta judges will be: Dr. A. G. McCalla, Edmonton, Dean, Faculty of Agriculture, University of Alberta; A. M. Wilson, Alberta Field Crops Commissioner; C. A. Weir, Calgary, District Supervisor, Dominion Plant Products Division.

I was shopping on the dry goods side of a store, in a small town and found I was short of a quarter to pay my bill. My husband, who was a tall, fair man, was standing on the grocery side. I went across to him to get the quarter, never noticing that he had moved, and another tall, fair man was standing in his place. I just said to him, "Can you give me a quarter?" He handed it to me, and imagine my surprise when I saw it was not my husband at all, but the other man.

BOZO — POOR BOZO

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Won Anyway

The fancy dress dance was over and local gossips were comparing notes.
"Mrs. Smithington-Smythe looks upset, don't you think?" said one, gloatingly.

"Yes, my dear. She came as a Hawaiian beauty, with grass skirts and... and they awarded her first prize in the humorous section as The Old Thatched Cottage."

Seclusion

"If you try to kiss me, I shall scream!"

"Not with all these people about surely?"

"Let's find a quieter spot, then!"

Bad Prospect

Bridegroom—"You are my all in life."

Bride—"Yes. I don't own anything outside of you, either."

Deficient Nature

Among the wonders of Mexico are hot and cold springs situated close together. There one may watch native women boiling clothes in a hot spring rubbing them in a spring of cold, clear water.

Observing this interesting spectacle one day, a tourist remarked to his companion: "These women think old Mother Nature is pretty generous, eh?"

The guide smiled crookedly. "No, senior," he replied, "they grumble because she supplies no soap!"

Spare Those Blushes

Old Maid—"Has the canary had its bath yet?"

Servant—"Yes, ma'am. You can come in now."

Go Easy

"Mrs. Smith's hot dog has been run over; she'll be heartbroken."

"Don't tell her already."

"No, I'll begin by saying it's her husband."

He Asked For It

A pompous individual stalked into the office and demanded to see the manager.

"I'm sorry, but he's not here," replied the receptionist. "Is there anything I can do?"

"No," snapped the visitor. "I never deal with underlings. I'll wait until he returns."

"Very well, take a seat," said the girl, and went on with her work. Half an hour later, the man became impatient. "How much longer do you think he will be gone?" he demanded gruffly.

"About three weeks," answered the girl calmly. "He left for South America yesterday."

The Toast

"My father always proposed a toast before he died me."

"That's funny! What was it?"

"Bottoms up!"

"Did you see the stork that brought me, daddy?"

"Only the bill, son."

Sangudo Accountant Had Exciting Career

Kryzaniak, translated from Polish to English means "Christian's Son" but if you ask Marian Kryzaniak why he doesn't change his name to the English form "Christianson" he can give you plenty of reasons why he should retain the family name, spelling, pronunciation and all.

Marian was born in Poland, but has lived in several different countries before coming to Canada. Most of his life has been unspent by war and regimented by Prisoner of War Camp barbed wire fence. He was in the Polish army in the fall of 1939 when it capitulated to the Russians and Germans. He tried to escape to Hungary but was captured at the border and until 1944 spent his time in a prisoner of war camp in Bavaria.

When General Patton's American army liberated him, Marian served with the Austrian for three months. Later he spent a few months as a student at an Austrian university. He rejoined the free-Polish army in Italy and was editor of the weekly Polish army magazine, "White Eagle". Later he was ready Public Relations Officer of the Polish Division and was sent to England.
